

Abstract of the Invention

A set top box and remote may be positioned in a rental property with a payment acceptor. A renter may selectively purchase content for a television therethrough without having an account pre-established with the content provider. The landowner may 5 receiver a fee for the referral.